Assessment Outcomes:

In the case that a student exceeds the maximum number of attempts for an assessment, APC assessors will discuss with the student where overall Not Yet Satisfactory (NYS) outcomes were assessed for specific unit(s) of competency, informing the student that additional learning and support intervention will be required.

Following initial consultation with the student to discuss specifically where NYS outcomes were achieved, APC assessors will identify additional support requirements and determine an appropriate outcome.

The student may be recommended to complete an alternate learning pathway at a different Australian Qualification Framework (AQF) level.

Outcomes may include one of the following:

Option 1:

The student will be advised that additional support such as trainer calls, emails and online tutoring sessions will be available, alongside any other required support or information on request.

The assessor is required to inform the Student Success Team of this outcome to assist with the any required further learning assistance.

Option 2:

The student will be advised that they must re-enrol into the relevant unit of competency(s) or practical assessment (s). This may incur additional course fees where applicable.

Option 3:

Students may be advised to enrol into a lower AQF level qualification with APC, that is more suitable to their current knowledge and skill level. After successful completion of the lower AQF level qualification, students will be given the opportunity to re-enrol into the higher AQF level qualification and apply newly learned skills and knowledge to this content.

The assessor is required to inform the Student Success Team of the decided outcome, to assist with the transitioning of enrolment into the new qualification and any required further learning assistance. All theoretical assessments completed within the higher level AQF enrolment will be recognised towards the lower level AQF where applicable.

Clinical Workshops:

Students who are unsuccessful in their clinical workshop outcomes must re-attend a clinical workshop at a later date to ensure practical components of their enrolled course can be assessed appropriately. It is an APC requirement that students who are requiring another attempt must attend the clinical workshop in full as more training and assessment is required.

If support needs cannot be met by APC or are outside of current Scope of Registration, the student will be advised by staff of the alternate measures available through referral to third party support agencies.

If a student does not wish to continue their enrolment due to NYS outcomes, a Statement of Attainment will be issued to the student for all eligible units of competency. All unit of competency assessed as competent will be issued on a Statement of Attainment to the student.
